

Why Warranties Matter in Powder Coating

PROTECTING YOUR INVESTMENT

When it comes to metal finishing, not all powder coating is created equal. While a sleek, durable finish is expected, the real question is—how long will it last? The answer lies in the selection of the right powder for your project and a trusted powder coater that offers industry-backed warranties, a game-changer for architects, builders, and project managers looking for long-term protection, cost efficiency, and guaranteed quality.

At Powder Coating Services, we are a Dulux Accredited Powder Coater allowing us to provide both Alumi Shield and Steel Shield warranties which are industry-leading warranties that safeguard your investment for up to 25 years. From reducing maintenance costs to ensuring compliance with strict quality standards, choosing the right powder coating solution can save you thousands in future repainting and repair expenses.

So, how do these warranties work, and why should they be a non-negotiable for your next project? Let's dive in.

Why Powder Coating?

Powder coating is an advanced finishing process that enhances the resilience and longevity of metal surfaces. Unlike conventional liquid coatings, it offers:

- Superior resistance to chipping, scratching, and fading.
- Enhanced protection against corrosion and harsh environmental conditions.
- A longer-lasting, low-maintenance finish suitable for both commercial and residential applications.

Choosing an accredited powder coating professional ensures that your project benefits from a high-quality application that meets international standards.

At Powder Coating Services, we take pride in being accredited by Dulux as an Accredited Powder Coater—a distinction that guarantees our ability to deliver premium-quality finishes backed by comprehensive warranties.

The Value of Selecting the Right Powder Backed by Coating Warranties

A warranty-backed powder coating is more than just a promise—it represents a commitment to quality, longevity, and cost-effectiveness. Here's why choosing a warranty-protected coating is essential:

- Long-Term Protection – Warranties ensure that coated surfaces maintain their integrity for years, typically ranging from 10 to 25 years, depending on the coating type.
- Assurance of Quality – Warranties demonstrate compliance with strict industry standards and best practices, guaranteeing a high-performance finish.
- Cost-Effectiveness – A warranty reduces maintenance expenses and eliminates the need for premature re-coating, delivering significant long-term savings. Super durable powders, which can offer warranties of up to 25 years, are particularly beneficial for commercial buildings, helping to minimize short-term maintenance and repainting costs. Expenses such as scaffolding and crane hire for repainting can be extremely costly, making a durable coating a smarter investment. Over time, these benefits far outweigh the initial cost of opting for a super durable powder coating compared to a standard powder coating.

Dulux Alumi Shield & Steel Shield Warranties: Industry-Leading Protection

As a Dulux Accredited Powder Coater, we have demonstrated our ability to meet rigorous quality requirements and international standards, allowing us to offer Dulux Alumi Shield and Steel Shield warranties. We are one of the few powder coaters in New Zealand to offer Dulux warranties for both Aluminium and Steel as an Accredited Powder Coater.
